The Bird Water Team

1. Maya, Luis, and Chen wanted to make a bird water station for the school garden. Their shared goal was to give thirsty birds a safe place to drink. First, they talked about what the station would need.

2. Luis drew a plan with a shallow bowl and smooth stones. Maya wrote a list of supplies. Chen checked the garden map and chose a spot away from the walking path. They listened while each person explained an idea.

3. At first, the bowl tipped on the uneven ground. The team stopped and looked at the problem together. Chen suggested placing flat bricks under the bowl. Everyone agreed, and Luis tested it. Then Maya filled the bowl with clean water.
