Maya's Many Groups

Notice what changes and what stays the same.

2.SS.1.1 "Identify different groups that a person belongs to, such as family and community, and how those roles and/or groups have changed or stayed the same."

NAME _____ DATE _____

1 READ AND MARK

Read it twice

YOUR JOB Underline the groups Maya belongs to, and circle the words that tell how her groups or jobs have changed.

Maya's Groups

1. Last year, Maya was part of her family, just as she is now. She was a big sister then, too. Last year she helped her little brother put on shoes. This year she helps him read signs.

2. Maya also belongs to the neighborhood garden group. Last year, she carried water for the plants. This year, she pulls weeds with her neighbors. She still meets the same group at the garden every Saturday.

3. This year, Maya joined a new group at the library. It is a reading club. She did not belong to the club last year. Now she picks books with other club members and talks about the stories.

2 ANSWER WITH EVIDENCE

Use the passage

1. What stayed the same about Maya's place in her family? How did the way she helps her brother change?

2. What stayed the same about Maya's garden group? How did her job there change?

3. Which group did Maya join this year, and what does she do with that group?

3 YOUR TURN

Your own words

Think of two groups you belong to. Write two sentences: name each group and tell one way your part in it has changed or stayed the same.

2	What stayed the same about Maya's garden group? How did her job there change?	Maya still meets the same garden group every Saturday. She used to carry water, but now she pulls weeds.
3	Which group did Maya join this year, and what does she do with that group?	She joined a reading club. She picks books and talks about stories with its members.

PART 3 · YOUR TURN (SAMPLE ANSWER)

I belong to my family, and I still help set the table. I belong to my class, and now I collect books instead of passing out papers.

For the marking job, accept family, neighborhood garden group, and reading club as group names. Students may circle the old and new jobs or the words showing that Maya joined the reading club this year.
