HOW TO RUN THIS PAGE

Read each story and its three choices aloud. After each student circles a choice, listen for an explanation of how it helps people remember the past, and record any support separately from the circled answer.

Students never read directions on this sheet. Read each part's script aloud, then each prompt, giving think time before students mark.

PART 1 · PEOPLE AND DAYS

SAY "Listen to each story and the three words I read. Circle one choice, then tell me how it helps people remember."

ROW	SAY	STUDENTS CIRCLE
a	A town wants to honor a leader from long ago in a park. The words are statue, snack, ball. What could help people remember the leader?	statue
b	People want to remember an important day from long ago each year. The words are coat, holiday, spoon. What could they celebrate to honor that day?	holiday

PART 2 · PLACES TO REMEMBER

a	A town wants to honor a teacher from long ago by giving the teacher's name to a place where children learn. The words are hat, sock, school. Which place could get the teacher's name?	school
b	A town wants to honor people who helped long ago. It wants to make something people can visit to remember them. The words are monument, cookie, shoe. What could the town make?	monument

WHAT TO ACCEPT

Correct choices, in order: statue, holiday, school, monument. Accept oral explanations that connect each choice to remembering a person or event, such as visiting a monument to remember people who helped.
